

Born to be Alone (Tucker/Greb)

On a cold day in November
With a hard rain coming down
A black dog barking at me
The devil was here in town
I was born to live in misery
With sorrow as my fate
My lucky number is 13
Black Friday is my mate

Stay away from me
Cause I'll never change
I was born to be alone
Just walk away
Don't look back
You better pray
That I leave you alone
That I leave you alone

Temptation turns to destiny
Falling flat on my face
Rain keeps coming down on me
No hope only disgrace
Sulfur smells surrounds me
On a wind blown in from hell
Screams filled with rage and pain
Are a sound I know too well

Stay away from me
Cause I'll never change
I was born to be alone
Just walk away
Don't look back
You better pray
That I leave you alone
That I leave you alone

Everywhere people stare at me
Then they run and hide
If you see me coming down the street
Baby cross to the other side
Cause I'm bad news from outside in
Hide your kids, look the other way
I'm contagious baby pain follows me
Better run, watch out and pray

Stay away from me
Cause I'll never change
I was born to be alone
Just walk away
Don't look back
You better pray
That I leave you alone
That I leave you alone

I can't change who I am
I can't fit so don't even try
Baby better just run real fast
Before I catch you in my eye
There's nothing left for me anywhere
Misery is my best friend
Think I'll steal myself some gasoline
Light the match and watch me burn

Stay away from me
Cause I'll never change
Don't look back
You better pray
That I leave you alone
That I leave you alone

On a cold day in November
