

Valhallelujah

Na na na na na na na Batman and Robin bop bop bopin' along singing a song of sixpence and rye and this will be the day that I die and good old boys drinking and ten lords a-leaping into corners sticking their thumbs into pies for plums saying, "What a good boy am I."

Muffets and tuffets and curds and whey swinging on the Riviera one day with a friendly neighborhood Spiderman peddling Maybelline mascara – jump

Bruce Banner he's belted by gamma rays of sunshine let the sunshine in this is the dawning of a new era with two mules for Sister Sarah.

It's a bird, it's a plane, it's a cow jumping over the moon river mountain high river wide with my best girl by my side we'd sing of sugar and spice girls tell me what you want baker's man or je te plumeria hey hey hey what you got to say LA woman under the rainbow bridge on the road to nowhere?

– Jeffery Greb